Different Escaping The Competitive Herd
"A funny thing happens when you begin to capture competitive differences on paper", says Harvard Professor Youngme Moon in her book Different: Escaping the Competitive Herd, "there is a natural inclination for folks in the competitive set to focus on eliminating differences rather than accentuating them." Eliminating Differences

Youngme Moon: On Business Competition and Escaping the ...
Youngme Moon is a Professor at Harvard Business School but in Different Escaping The Competitive Herd she writes more like an accomplished storyteller than a jargon touting business academic. The essential premise of the book is that being different is what will set you apart from the competition but that the way to achieve that genuine differentiation is far more counter-intuitive than you would ever expect.
